

Recording Limitations

Only local recording is supported

Currently, only the local recording option is available in Jitsi. The "default" recording option is non-functional.

Supported browsers

The local recording option is only available in Chrome-based browsers. If you are using Safari, Firefox, or a Firefox based browser, the option will not be visible.

Recording using Brave

If you are using Brave, a browser setting must be enabled before the local recording option is available.

1. Open a new tab and navigate to <brave://flags>.
2. Search for

File System Access API

3. Change the setting to "Enabled".

* Overridden by active variations or a command line.

4. Select "Relaunch" at the bottom right.

5. Brave will restart. Go to your Jitsi meeting and you will now have access to the local recording option.
